Capitol's "Big Broadcast" Packs Stellar Barrage

Lavishly mounted, mapoe-comic which makes for a whirlwind, hilarious finish. "The Big Broadcast of 1936," which comes to the Capitol Theatre today, can be classed as entertainment of the highest order in the comedy and musical fields.

Not a dull moment is to be found in this sparkling, breezy, gala production which fairly exudes the highest talent from radio, stage and screen. For pure fun and light comedy no better trio of comedians could be teamed together than Jack Oakie, Burns and Allen and Lydia Roberts. Oakie's infectious enthusiasm in his role alone is enough to guarantee moments of hilarity. Coupled with the high links of Robert and Burns and Allen, the perfect combination is achieved.

Add to these fun makers such performers as Ann S. Day, Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman, Jack Robinson, Mary Boland, Charles Ruggles and Ray Noble and his band, and you have an unbeatable assortment of entertainers.

Oakie is his customary wisecracking, engaging role in a role out to his measure. He and his partner, Henry Wadsworth, decide to enter an international radio contest to save their broadcasting funds from financial failure. He considers using the Radio Kow, a fictitious medium invented by George Burns and Allen. At this point, Lydia Roberts, as a sentimental, wealthy countess, and her secretary, Wendy Barrie, enter their lives and whisk them off to her yacht to her estate in Cuba, and hold them there as her guest prisoners until she makes up her mind which one of the two boys she wants for a husband. In a desperate break for freedom, Oakie, in broadcasting for aid, unintentionally competes in the radio contest.

Nancy Heads Star-Packed Rialto Cast

Petite Nancy Carroll, gone but far from forgotten after her early leading picture career billed with Betty Rogers, has shot to the top of the Hollywood star heap in the past year in a series of fast paced films. This most week she heads the cast of "After the Dance," one of two features playing at the Rialto theatre.

CASINO BAND FEATURES ON STRAND STAGE

Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday promises fine entertainment for the patrons of the Strand Theatre, where the musical comedy extravaganza, "A Night in Avonlea," will be the stage attraction. This colorful musical presentation, headed by the Bill Phillips' Casino Band, is a production of the highest order and carries many versatile entertainers in its cast.

The Salomeans, three dainty misses in a very difficult and clever routine. Tex Martin, in "Roper and Yarns," will remind you of Will Rogers. Edna O'Brien, California's personality, and Charlotte Moore, "The Blue Streak of Rhythm," with a really remarkable voice, a favorite of many of America's leading night clubs. "The Great Migration," aerial trapeze artists, in one of the world's greatest iron jaw performances, formerly featured with Sells Floto and Barnum and Bailey circus. This act alone merits feature billing on any vaudeville program.

The screen attraction is a thrilling detective drama, "Special Agent," starring George Brent and Betty Davis. Last times today the Strand presents "The Last Outpost."

Cantor Cuts Capers

Eddie Cantor's cutting up again, and the big broad back of Director Norman Taurog hides the grief on his face as he watches the comic and the chorine, Rue Rita, repeat a number from the film "Chute the Chute" in front of the camera before he calls it okay.

The picture in which Frank Crum, Reginald Owen, Sidney Toler and Katherine de Mille carry prominent supporting roles.

The film also introduces a new dog star in the role of "Buck," perhaps the best known and best-loved canine hero in all fiction. "Buck" is an 18 months old St. Bernard with no former film experience.

Two Strong Features Billed For Rialto's Screen Monday

One of the leading comedienne authors provided the amusing plot of "Cappy Ricks Returns," Republic production which comes to the Rialto Theatre for a run of three days starting Monday.

The author is Peter B. Kyne, native of San Francisco, and his famous character, Cappy Ricks, was suggested by the career of the late Robert Dollar, for many years a leading figure in Pacific Coast lumber and shipping circles. Many other characters in "Cappy Ricks Returns" were also suggested by real life characters. Matt Peasley, who became Cappy Ricks' son-in-law in the series of stories, was suggested by Captain Matt Peasley, who at the present time, is master of a steamship in the Pacific Coast lumber trade.

"Cappy Ricks Returns" has all the charm and amusing complications of the original series. The title role is played by Robert McWade, who was recently seen in "The Healer."

Members of the cast include Ray Walker, and Florine McKinney, Oscar Apfel, Bradley Page, Lucien Littlefield, Lola Wilson, Man Mountain Dean and Kenneth Harlan.

Saturday is no new experience for Nancy Carroll. She has held that exalted position for years. But

"After the Dance," second feature on the program, finds George Murphy climbing over the title of the picture into his first starring role. Nancy rips through the film with vivacity, grace and general good form, convincing everyone that she is still the same appealing little coquette she was in earlier days.

Thelma Todd, Jack La Rue, Arthur Hohl, the Albertina Beach girls and the others in the cast all contribute toward making "After the Dance" an evening's entertainment that is entirely satisfactory.

The program is embellished with Graham MacNamee News and some special short features.

Film producers having lured many celebrities from the radio world, air officials have launched a counter attack with air offer in the form of a five-year singing contract to three motion picture actresses, providing they give up all screen work.

Alma Fox, Frances Langford and Mary Kelly, principals appearing opposite George Raft in "Every Night at Eight," coming Monday to the Dreamland Theatre, received the radio proposal from Raymond Paige, western musical director of the Columbia Broadcasting Company. Paige became enthusiastic about the singing of the three girls after witnessing a pre-view of "Every Night at Eight," in which they appear as a sister singing trio.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

IN CENTRAL AMERICA, THERE ARE BEETLES SO LARGE THAT THEY CAN BREAK THE WINDSHIELD OF AN AUTOMOBILE TRAVELING AT HIGH SPEED.

FROM THE Panama Canal Zone have come reports of automobile windshields having been broken by giant beetles. The insects grow to a length of several inches, and their armored shells are exceedingly thick and hard. They fly at an estimated speed of 30 miles, which sends them against the windshield of a speeding car with terrific force.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

HYENAS
ARE FOUND ONLY IN ASIA AND AFRICA, BUT THEIR REVOLTING AND COWARDLY CHARACTERISTICS ARE KNOWN THE WORLD OVER. THEY LIVE IN CAVES, FROM WHICH THEY EMERGE AT DUSK FOR THEIR NIGHTLY WANDERINGS IN SEARCH FOR FOOD.

THE "LAUGHING" OF THE SPOTTED HYENA STRIKES TERROR INTO THE HEART OF ANYONE HEARING IT FOR THE FIRST TIME.

IN THE DRIVE OF LIFE, LIONS IGNORE THE SKULKING HYENA, BUT, WHEN OLD AGE COMES, THE GALLANT KING OF BEASTS FALLS EASY PREY TO THIS MOST DESPISED OF ALL ANIMALS.

TOGETHER WITH THE EQUALLY LOATHSOME VULTURES, HYENAS REALLY DO A GREAT SERVICE, BY CLEANING UP THE CARRION OF THE LAND.
